The Internet is Awesome

Traditional News Media is run for profit, and has a bias in the pursuit of more profit. The internet is amazing because it allows for a plurality of ideas and concepts to be spread based on their merit alone. Since everyone can contribute to the internet, everyone's voice matters.

Setting Culture Free

Copyright law is stuck in the past, and needs to be updated for the benefit of artists and consumers over corporations. Sharing is not stealing. Art and culture are shared experiences.

CRTC Reform

Canadians are being charged too much for their internet. The CRTC is meant to protect the interests of consumers, but the recent usage based billing controversy shows they are clearly failing.

Government Transparency

Information is the lifeblood of democracy. We must strive to have as little secrecy as we can in our government, to keep the faith of Canadian citizens and prevent an atmosphere of corruption and paranoia.
